ALVECHURCH residents are being urged to have their say on the future of their village.

The Alvechurch Parish Council Neighbourhood Plan aims to ensure future housing up until 2030 is built in locations which are both sustainable and favoured by local people.

Residents are being advised to respond to the plan by the end of October.

Council chairman Andy Humphries said: "This is another chance for residents to have their say and tell the council what they think of their community and how it should develop."
